

Order Picker License Coquitlam

Order Picker License Coquitlam - Order preparation operation or also called order picking as it is more usually known is a process used in warehouse operations and consists of workers called order pickers. The order picker's duty is to take and collect articles in specific quantities to be able to complete the client's orders previous to shipment. Order picking is a basic warehousing process. The effectiveness in which this particular job is done could be directly connected to the productivity of a supply chain. Therefore, order picking is one of the most controlled logistic methods. Order picking falls within the category of the warehouse management system.

There are some certain kinds of order picking. The main types comprise: pick to box method, wave picking method, picker to part method or piece picking, sorting systems method and zone picking method.

The pick to box method comprises the order picker filling the box with the items from her or his station. The box then moves to other picking locations until the client order is finish. In this particular process, there is no movement of the order picker workers. In the wave picking method, the order pickers move about to gather the needed products for some orders. The piece picking or picker to part method is similar where the order pickers or picker move to collect the items needed but for one order only.

There is no movement by the order picker in the sorting systems method. Rather, things are brought to the orderpicker by an automatic system like for instance a conveyor system or an automatic storage system. In the zone picking method, each and every order picker is assigned to one specific area. They are responsible for only realizing order picking within this particular area.